Dear Diana,

Congratulations ! I am writing to inform you of your eligibility to apply for grants from The Weiss Fund for Research in Development Economics.

The Weiss Fund aims to support research and activities that will positively affect the lives of poor people in developing countries. Previously, eligibility for Weiss Fund grants was limited to students and faculty at a group of member universities. This year, as part of an international expansion, we have introduced a process to expand eligibility for Weiss Fund grants to selected strong early-career researchers in development economics.

It is my pleasure to inform you that you are now eligible to apply for funding available through the Weiss Fund application process. This term of eligibility will last three years. During that term you will remain eligible as long as (1) you remain at an academic institution, and (2) you are still within 8 years of receiving your PhD.

The Weiss Fund Call for Expressions of Interest is currently open and will close on January 18th, 2021. You will receive another email in the next day or two with details about the types of grants available and how to apply. More information can also be found on our website. Disbursement of funds for successful applications is conditional on the Weiss Fund being able to find a way to disburse funds to the applicant's institution.

Please direct any questions to weiss_fund@fas.harvard.edu.

Best wishes,

Nicole Colegrove on behalf of the Weiss Fund Team
